The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,609

One Barre man has found that it doesn't pay to try to stop a train, even if it is a freight train.

Those 176 Burlington paupers who are deprived of the opportunity of buying liquor at the various saloons of that city will believe that there is always some loss no matter how large the gain.

A beautiful and peaceful picture is formed in the readers' mind by a news despatch from Kentucky that a circuit judge of that state has appealed to the governor for militia to be on hand at the opening of court. And this is the land of "colonels" and gentlemen.

Montpelier believes an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, regarding her water supply. The experience of Ithaca, N. Y., and other towns proves it beyond question. And the surest preventive for Montpelier appears to be as in the case of Burlington, take the water from the middle of the pond or lake supply.

The first trial of the new cup defender, Reliance, in contest with another yacht, did not result so disastrously to the new boat as was anticipated. In fact during the whole of the race yesterday with the Columbia, which is conceded to be one of the fastest boats afloat, the Reliance seemed to have all the advantage, crossing the starting line first and gaining materially so long as any breeze remained. The first trial race to determine the fastest boat this side of the water left the first call with the Reliance and the people who have been shaky over the prospects may be reassured.

Together with a good sized gain in population Barre city seems to have experienced a decided increase in its grand list, although the exact amount cannot be ascertained at present. However, the figures already at hand are sufficient to show that the Granite City is having a healthy growth in a financial way, which perhaps at present, is fully as desirable as in any line of increase. The city is not a rich community in the matter of dollars and cents, and practically all the wealth that it has is utilized for capital. There are few idle dollars in sight. But the city is no worse off for that reason, in fact, it is a matter for congratulation that every dollar that can be spared is put into business.

Burlington is having trouble in determining the difference between a prize fight and a sparring match. Last Tuesday evening in the Burlington city hall, there was a so-called sparring match in which a man from Troy, N. Y., was so effectively knocked out that he couldn't rise from the mat at the count of ten. And yet, that was called a "sparring match," in which the contestants spar for "points." We do not hesitate to say that the man knocked out did not make many points. Whether the successful wielder of his fists scored any points or not, we cannot say. He did, however, score a knockout, which comes about as near prize fighting as is possible, in our opinion. These so-called sparring matches, in reality prize fights, are not uncommon occurrences in Vermont for all that there is a law prohibiting them.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

Dr. W. Seward Webb sailed for New York Wednesday from England.

A number of Randolph fishermen went to Brookfield last week to fish. They did not clean out the pond but they took over 200 perch.

The Co-operative creamery of Randolph paid 28 1/2 cts. net for butter fat during April, made 31,500 pounds of butter and paid patrons $7,367. The Brigham creamery paid 28c. a pound for butter fat.

Yesterday was the 43d consecutive day of drouth in Middlebury, and unless rain comes as succor to the parched crops within a very few days, hay and grain crops in Addison county will prove total failures.

The Akley memorial building, which is being erected in Stowe as the gift of Henry G. Akley of Minneapolis, to his native town, is nearing completion and plans are being made for its dedication during Old Home Week.

The new license law has been in force in Stowe for about a month and it has worked very satisfactorily. During that time only two arrests for intoxication have been made and in these cases license could hardly be given as the cause for the indiscretion.

A list of 178 names of paupers is posted in each saloon in Burlington, under the law. The list is furnished by the poor-master and is added to from time to time and the list is fully revised yearly. There is a fine of $50 for selling to a person after he is posted.

During the month of April Orange county creamery received 307,294 pounds of milk and 2,007 pounds of cream, from which were made 14,700 pounds of butter. For this the patrons were paid 22 cents per pound churn test, a gain of 13 5/7 per cent, which makes about 25c per pound Babcock test.

George E. Marshall of Middlebury, recently found, among some forgotten household effects, a thermometer that belonged to Dr. John Rogers, his grandfather. The metal back has a division of about one third, with a hinged extension that can be turned up from the bulb to be inserted in the mouth of a patient, in order to ascertain the temperature of the tongue.

A notable event of the week in Randolph was the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Rev. Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Cooper, who received the congratulations of a large number of friends Tuesday from 2 to 5 in the afternoon and from 7 to 9 in the evening. It was a representative occasion, pastors and people of all denominations delighting in honoring the bride and groom of fifty years' standing. About 150 letters were received from those too far away to express their good wishes in person, among them being ex-Lieut. Governor Mansur of Island Pond, and congratulatory telegrams were sent by Rev. and Mrs. A. H. Hough of Groton, and the Orleans County W. C. T. U.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Wild Sport in Mayfair.

Quite the latest society game in London is said to be "bubbles." The players blow bubbles along a plank and over a miniature bridge. Bubble parties are to be the fashion this season.

Oh, no, we don't play piquet now. The racket's reign is over. No more we mop our heated brow While crawling on the floor. Even the veriest champion's play No longer makes for fame. The net and balls are stowed away. We've found another game.

You take a pipe of common sort. Some sonnets in a jar. Two chairs—one tall, the other short—A plank, and there you are. It's made a most enormous hit, And "bubbles" is its name. And if you try it you'll admit It's quite a thrilling game.

It's seen at crushes, balls and fetes. Oh, would that I could pen The wild excitement it creates Among the upper ten! His nightly bridge the duke forsaken, The marquise does the same, And blows his bubble till it breaks. It's such a jolly game.

And if you seek the reason why They play with such a zest, The constant puffing, they reply, Is splendid for the chest. It's quickly learned and so refined, And there's its highest claim! It doesn't overtax the mind; That's why they like the game. —London Daily Chronicle.

Spring Haberdashery.

It's the details of a man's apparel that gives tone and character to his make-up. Poor or poor-fitting Haberdashery, antiquated or obsolete styles of Collar, Shirt, Necktie, etc., does away with the otherwise happy effect of a fine Suit. A stroll through our Men's Furnishing Goods Department shows at a glance the newest, best and brightest in the thousand-and-one things that come under this heading—all at prices that fear no competition in this city. This is a man's store, and the man who comes here to trade goes away contented and happy.
